"Recovery support services" may include services provided in an integrated medication-assisted treatment setting, in a separate facility that is staffed by persons in recovery and that provides services such as mentoring, education and resource provision or in a recovery residence.

Sec. 8. 17-A MRSA §1809, sub-§1, as enacted by PL 2019, c. 113, Pt. A, §2, is amended to read:

- 1. Authority of probation officer. If a probation officer has probable cause to believe that a person on probation has violated a condition of that person's probation, that officer may arrest the person or cause the person to be arrested for the alleged violation, except that this subsection does not apply to a violation of a condition of probation that is solely a violation of a condition imposed pursuant to section 1807, subsection 2, paragraph I. If the probation officer cannot, with due diligence, locate the person, the officer shall file a written notice of this fact with the court that placed the person on probation. Upon the filing of that written notice, the court shall issue a warrant for the arrest of that person.
- Sec. 9. 17-A MRSA §1812, sub-§4, as enacted by PL 2019, c. 113, Pt. A, §2, is amended to read:
- 4. Failure to comply with requirement of probation. If the alleged violation does not constitute a crime and the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that the person on probation has inexcusably failed to comply with a requirement imposed as a condition of probation, it may revoke probation, except that this subsection does not apply to a violation of a condition of probation imposed pursuant to section 1807, subsection 2, paragraph I.
- Sec. 10. 17-A MRSA §1812, sub-§6, as enacted by PL 2019, c. 113, Pt. A, §2, is amended to read:
- 6. Authority of court finding violation of probation. Upon a finding of a violation of probation, the court may vacate all, part or none of the suspension of execution as to imprisonment or fine specified when probation was granted, considering the nature of the violation and the reasons for granting probation. The remaining portion of the sentence for which suspension of execution is not vacated upon the revocation of probation remains suspended and is subject to revocation at a later date. During the service of that portion of the sentence imposed for which the suspension of execution was vacated upon revocation, the running of the period of probation must be interrupted and resumes again upon release. If the court finds a violation of probation but vacates none of the suspended sentence, the running of the period of probation resumes upon entry of that final disposition. The court may nevertheless revoke probation and vacate the suspension of execution as to the remainder of the suspended sentence or a portion thereof for any criminal conduct committed during the service of that portion of the sentence for which the suspension of execution was vacated upon revocation. This subsection does not apply to a violation of a condition of probation imposed pursuant to section 1807, subsection 2, paragraph I if there is no alleged violation that constitutes a crime.
- Sec. 11. 17-A MRSA §1814, as enacted by PL 2019, c. 113, Pt. A, §2, is amended to read:

§1814. Additional conditions in lieu of probation revocation proceedings

Whenever a probation officer has probable cause to believe that a person under the supervision of that probation officer has violated a condition of probation but the violation does not constitute a crime, the probation officer, instead of commencing a probation revocation proceeding under section 1809, may offer to the person the option of adding one or more of the following conditions to the person's probation:

- 1. Participation in public restitution program or treatment program. The person will participate in a public restitution program or treatment program administered through a correctional facility or county jail; or
- 2. Residence at correctional facility or county jail. The person will reside at a correctional facility or county jail for a period of time not to exceed 90 days.
- 3. Sanctions; referral. If the condition of probation that the probation officer has probable cause to believe was violated is a condition imposed pursuant to section 1807, subsection 2, paragraph I:
 - A. The person may be required to comply with an additional sanction, but that sanction may not consist of incarceration; or
 - B. The person may be referred to a certified recovery coach, a certified intentional peer support specialist or a qualified recovery support service if participating in recovery work is determined by the probation officer to be likely to be appropriate and of positive value to the person.

If the person agrees in writing to the additional conditions under subsection 1 or 2 subsection 3, paragraph A, the conditions must be implemented. If the person does not agree or if the person fails to fulfill the additional conditions to the satisfaction of the probation officer, the probation officer may commence probation revocation proceedings under section 1809 or 1810 for the violation that the probation officer had probable cause to believe occurred. If the person fulfills the additional conditions to the satisfaction of the probation officer, the probation officer shall so notify the person in writing and the probation officer may not commence probation revocation proceedings for the violation that the probation officer had probable cause to believe occurred.

24 SUMMARY

This bill provides definitions in the Maine Criminal Code chapter regarding probation for the terms "certified intentional peer support specialist," "certified recovery coach," "integrated medication-assisted treatment," "person with substance use disorder," "recovery," "recovery residence" and "recovery support services." If a person on probation is subject to conditions requiring the person to refrain from drug use and excessive use of alcohol and the probation officer has cause to suspect a violation of those conditions, but not a violation of law that constitutes a crime, the bill prohibits arrest and revocation of probation for the violation of probation conditions. If a person on probation is subject to conditions requiring the person to refrain from drug use and excessive use of alcohol and the probation officer has cause to suspect a violation of those conditions, but not a violation of law that constitutes a crime, the bill authorizes the probation officer to impose additional conditions in lieu of probation revocation, including referral to a certified recovery coach, a certified intentional peer support specialist or a qualified recovery support service, allows participation in a public restitution program or treatment program regardless of whether the program is administered through a correctional facility or county jail and prohibits the use of incarceration.
